SENIOR HAPPENINGS

At last, we are seniors. We were beginning to think this day would never come. But, thinking back, the time went all to fast. As freshmen, we were scared of initiation and the seniors. We didn't know our way around because the third floor was unfamiliar to us. But we survived!

High school's novelty had worn off by the time we were sophomores. It was beginning to be fun. We all knew what was going on, and we liked it. Towards the end of the year, we ordered our class rings and waited anxiously for them to arrive.

Our rings came in our junior year. Everyone went around flashing them like we were the first class to ever get them. Then came the planning of the Junior-Senior Prom of 1973. What fun it was decorating the gym, writing out invitations, and going to the prom!

The time came for us to be seniors much too soon. At first many still felt like juniors and it was hard to believe we were the oldest on the floor. When we saw the new freshman class, we remembered what it was like, just three short years ago. We attended the prom, and now wait for graduation.

We are happy to finally get out of school, but we know that we will miss it. The halls will always remain in our minds as a place of joy, laughter, and friends. We will always want to come back to our many memories, to football games, plays, basketball games, music, concerts, and to our friends, but we know it will never be the same. Only some of us will come back, but all of us will remember the Dow City School as a place we shared, a place where we grew up, and a place of things we liked best.

Dow City's new foreign exchange student is Telma Birchal, daughter of Yderneia and Hennio Morgan Birchal. She is the oldest of 7 children. Telma comes from Belo Horizonte, Brazil, a city of about 1½ million people. Her American family is the family of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Laubscher.

Telma got to the United States by plane, a trip which took 9 hours. There were stops in New York and in Chicago, but she did not see much of either city.

The two languages that Telma speaks are Portuguese, Brazil's national language, and English. She has been taking English in school for 4 years and now speaks it very well. When asked why she took English that long she replied, "Everybody wants to learn English, it is a universal language." Telma knew that she was coming here last July and felt "very happy" about it. "I think the American people are very kind" she told a group of students sitting in the gym.

Telma's school in Belo Horizonte is called "Escola Estadual de 2nd Milton" a rather long name for a school. There are 3,000 kids enrolled in this school. In Brazil, there are 8 grades in the elementary and 3 grades in high school. As for subjects, the students have no free choice in anything but English or French. Telma's subjects included; chemistry, physics, biology, math, world history, Brazil History, geography, P. E., civics, English and Portuguese. Since both of Telma's parents are teachers of Portuguese she was required to speak very good Portuguese at home. All these subjects were not taken in one day but were spread out during one week. Her subjects in Dow City include Chemistry, Physics, Biology, Sociology, and Trigonometry; "a little harder schedule than most kids take, but Telma has said that she wants to be a doctor and these subjects will certainly help with that. In the school she used to go to, school was held 3 times a day. Some kids went from 7 AM to 12 noon, Telma went from 1 PM to 5:30, and others went from 7 PM to 11 at night. This is because of the big population of school children.

In her spare time Telma likes to swim, read, and pick on the guitar. While in Brazil she often went to dancing parties, to the cinema, and to night clubs.

Sports in the Brazilian schools include American soccer which they call Football, handball, volleyball, and competition swimming. There was a swimming pool in her school that Telma enjoyed very much.

When speaking to her you must speak slowly and clearly with no slang or she will not understand you. She reads and writes English, and uses a little better English than most native Americans. About English she said "to learn it is not difficult, it is difficult to speak", she does have a definite accent which she will probably smooth out after having been here awhile.

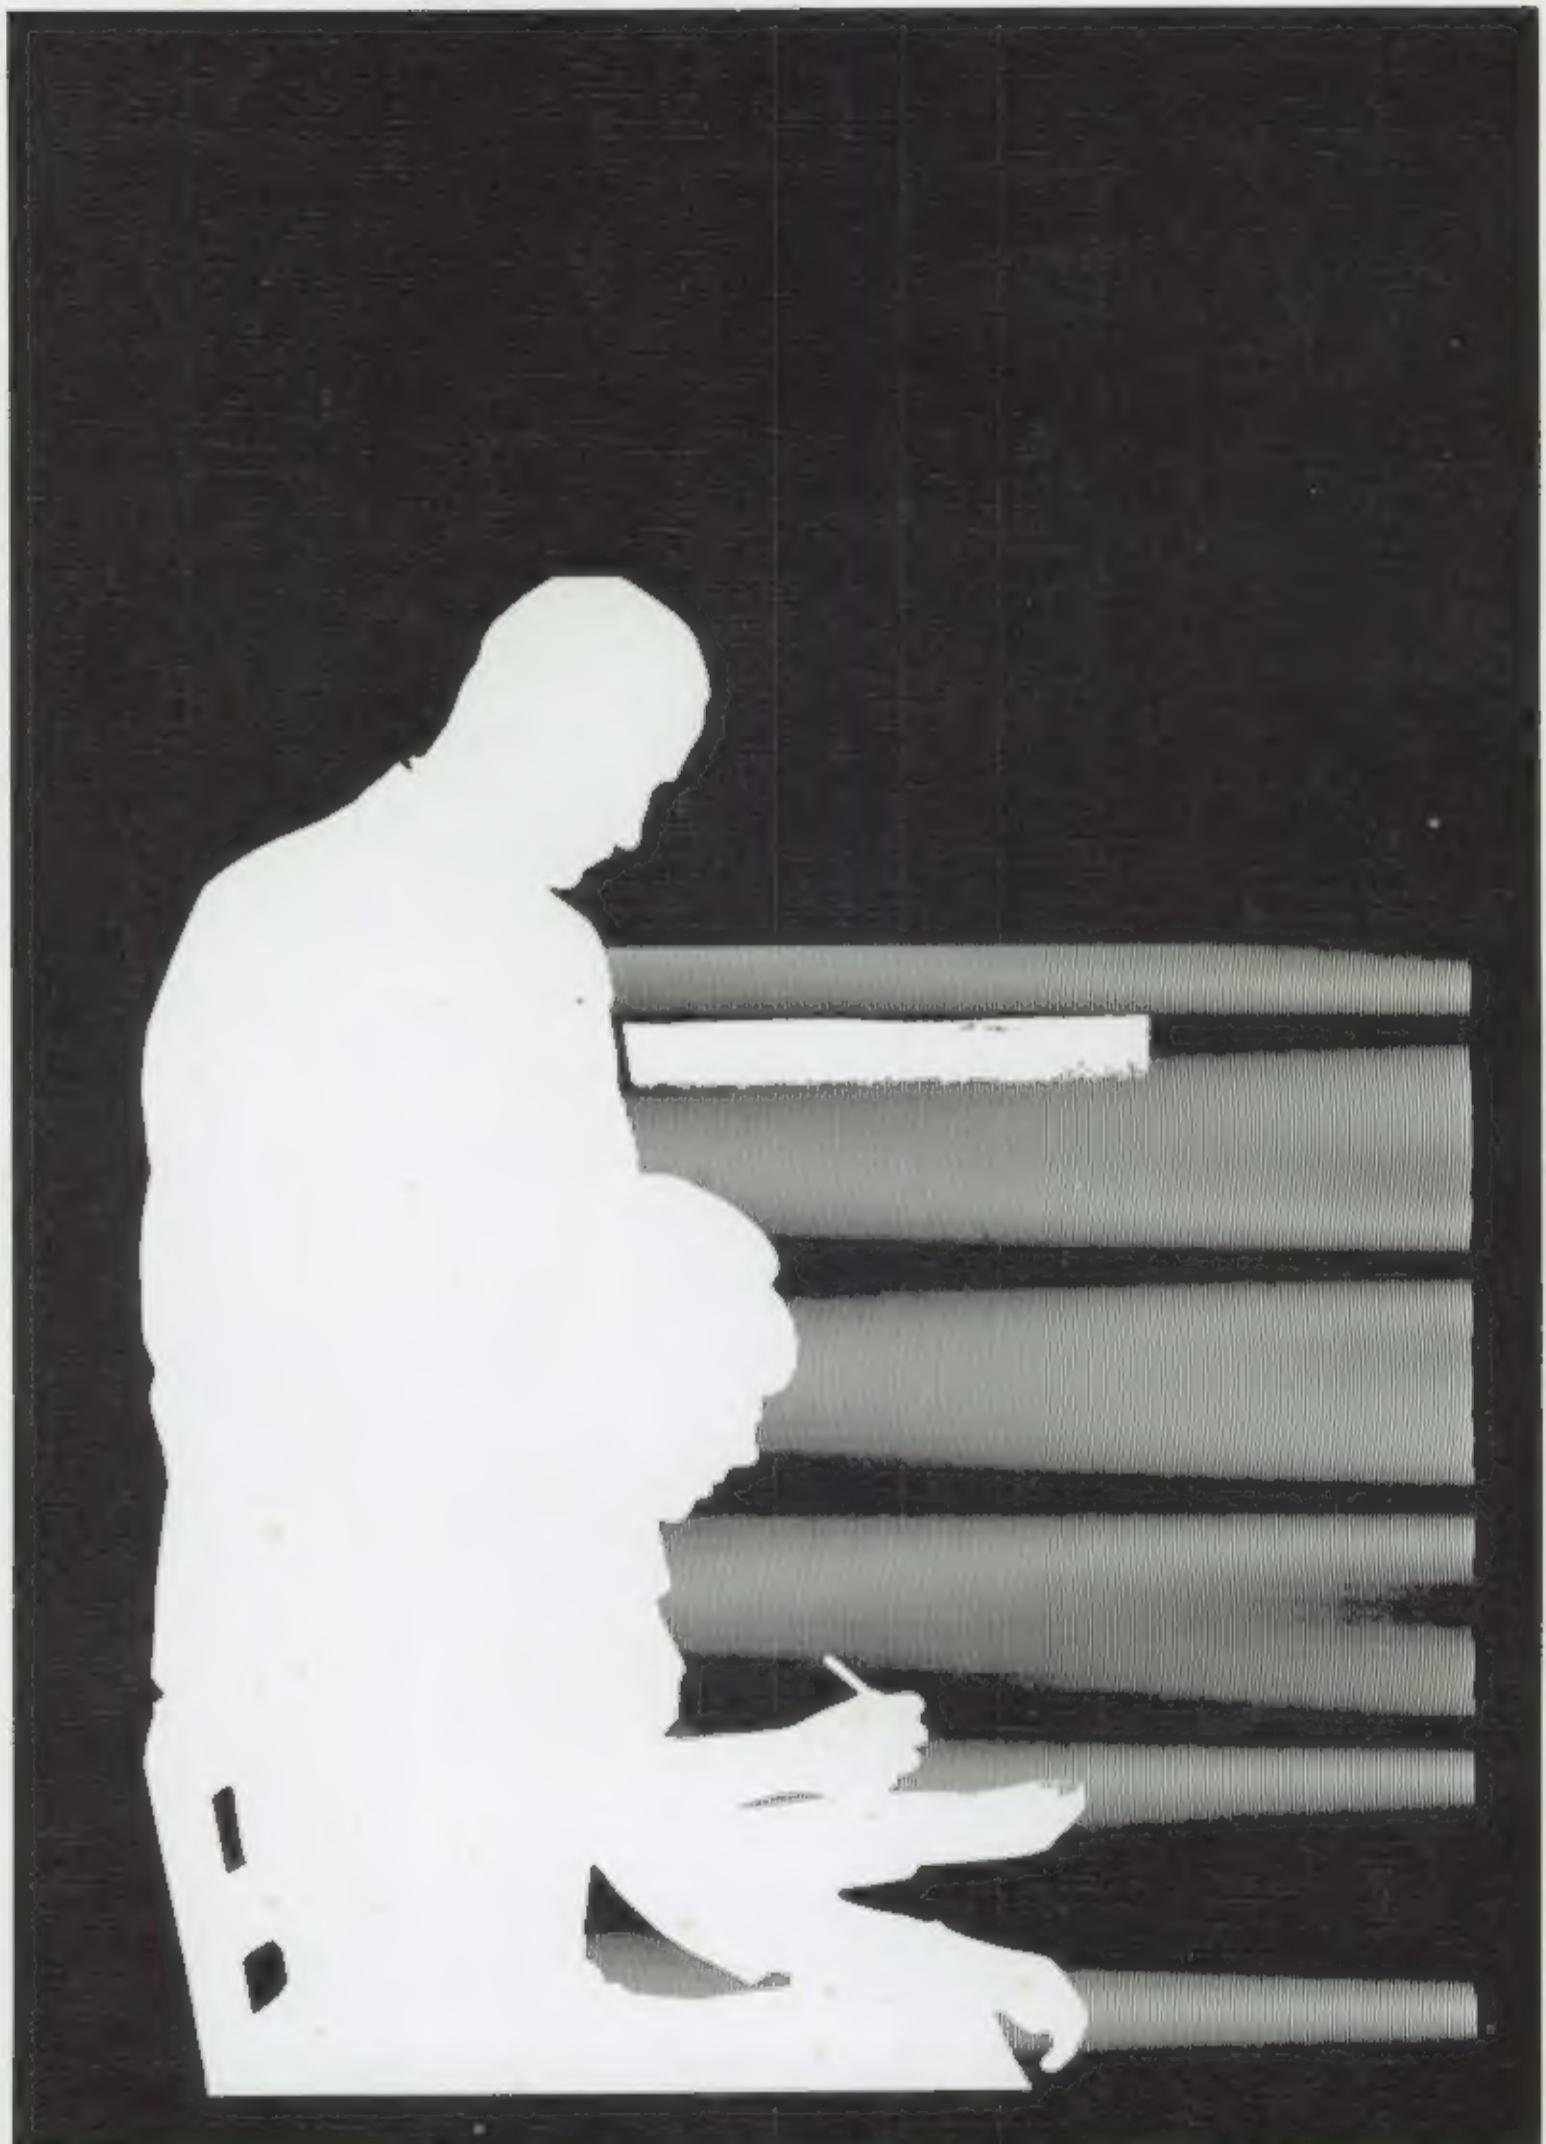

As this chapter in our lives comes to an end, a sadness accompanies graduation. Happy times of high school are over, only treasured memories in the pages of time.

It is time now to make our mark in the world we have learned so much about. For some, this means a continuation of education. For others, this means a job or marriage. Even from a small school such as ours, a career as an adult means something different to each of us. That is because we are individuals.

In time, we realize that we acquired more than pages of fun in the books of our lives when we went to school here. We gained knowledge that we will always use. Most important of all, we learned to learn. We learned to be ourselves, and to gain further insights as years pass.

The joys of high school are gone, but happiness is not lost to us. We find new friends in our new lives, but we can still enjoy the old ones. We continue to grow, finding fulfillment in many, many ways, from a successful career to raising children of our own.

When we are old, we can turn back to these pages and smile. We will know then that our motto held more truth than we realized: "Our lives are not bound by the rivers of our memories."
